

Nicolab Secures Regulatory Clearance to Bring AI-Powered Stroke Care to Singapore

Singapore, November 25, 2025 – Nicolab, a global leader in AI-powered stroke care, is proud to announce that it has received regulatory clearance to introduce Nicolab's StrokeViewer in Singapore. This milestone marks a significant advancement for acute stroke workflows in the region, helping clinicians deliver faster, more effective care when every second counts.

Stroke remains the leading cause of adult disability in Singapore, where timely diagnosis and specialist intervention are crucial for improving patient outcomes. With regulatory approval now secured, the Nicolab app is available to hospitals and clinicians across the country, bringing advanced imaging analysis, centralised patient information, and seamless communication tools into a unified platform.

Nicolab's AI algorithms, StrokeViewer, support faster diagnosis, improved care coordination, and more efficient triage for patients experiencing acute ischemic stroke. By streamlining critical steps in the workflow, the platform empowers care teams to act quickly and confidently, reducing variability and supporting better patient outcomes.

Nicolab CEO, Michael Macilquham, noted that "Singapore is a strategic gateway into Asia. This clearance strengthens our position across South East Asia, India, and China, and supports our mission to raise the standard of acute stroke care across the region. Hospitals in Singapore can now use a proven stroke workflow platform that improves patient care coordination and supports faster clinical decisions when time matters most."

As Nicolab expands its presence in Asia, it aims to support national efforts to strengthen acute stroke pathways, advance digital transformation, and improve access to high-quality stroke care across Singapore.
